

Ideology of Pakistan — Complete Revision Summary

Lectures 1–12 | Easy Language | Timeline-Based

LECTURE 1 — What is Ideology? What is Pakistan's Ideology?

Ideology is a set of ideas and beliefs about life and society. It explains:

- Where people come from (the past)
- Where they stand (the present)
- Where they should go (the future)

Why Pakistan's Ideology Was Needed

- Muslims were once rulers of India but lost power over time.
- After the Indian Rebellion of 1857, the British blamed Muslims and punished them.
- Sir Syed Ahmad Khan defended Muslims and tried to fix their image.
- Muslims realized the system didn't serve their needs — so they wanted a separate homeland.

Key Idea

Pakistan is one of the rare countries created on the basis of ideology, not just geography. Its ideology is rooted in Muslim Nationalism — the belief that Muslims are a separate nation with their own identity, culture, and religion.

LECTURE 2 — Nationalism and the Two Nation Theory

What is Nationalism?

Nationalism is the feeling of unity among people who share common identity, history, culture, or beliefs. It has three bases:

- Emotional: Love for fellow nationals

- Political/Social: Common territory, shared government
- Spiritual: Shared language, religion, traditions, and history

Important Views

- Mahatma Gandhi: Politics and religion cannot be separated.
- Allama Iqbal: Islam protected Muslims throughout history, not the other way around.

Two Nation Theory

The Two Nation Theory states that Hindus and Muslims are two separate nations because of differences in:

- Religion
- Culture
- Language
- Social practices

Key People Who Shaped This Theory

Person	Contribution
Sir Syed Ahmad Khan	First used the term "Qaum" for Muslims; demanded separate electorate in 1892
Aga Khan III	Considered Muslims a separate nation
Syed Ameer Ali	Supported Muslim nationhood
Allama Iqbal	Gave philosophical basis for Muslim identity
Muhammad Ali Jinnah	Gave the final political conclusion — two nations, one homeland

The Final Statement — Lahore Resolution (1940)

Jinnah declared: Muslims are a nation by every definition and must have their own homeland.

This was later given legal shape in the Objectives Resolution, March 1949.

LECTURE 3 — Historical Background (1857 Onward)

War of Independence — 10 May 1857 (Started in Meerut)

The war failed but changed the political direction of everyone in India.

Causes of the 1857 War

Cause	Explanation
Economic	British exploited Indian wealth; East India Company got revenue rights in Bengal in 1765
Administrative	Unfair policies; Indians excluded from top jobs; Doctrine of Lapse used to annex states
Political	Lord Canning insulted Mughal Emperor; announced end of Mughal rule after Bahadur Shah Zafar
Social/Religious	Christian missionaries supported after 1813 ; Hindu/Muslim religions felt threatened
Military	Indian soldiers paid less, denied promotions; General Service Enlistment Act 1856 forced overseas service
Immediate Cause	Enfield rifle cartridges rumored to be greased with cow and pig fat — offensive to both Hindus and Muslims

Why the War Failed

- No central leadership or common goal
- Unplanned uprising — didn't happen simultaneously
- Many groups benefited under British rule and didn't join
- British army was better equipped

After the War

- Hindus blamed Muslims and called it a "Muslim conspiracy"
- Led to serious political change and shift in strategies

Hindi/Urdu Controversy

Year	Event
1837	Urdu replaced Persian as court language — no opposition
1867	Hindus in Banaras demanded Urdu be replaced by Hindi (Devanagari script)
1871	Urdu banned in courts in Bengal
1900	Anthony MacDonnell replaced Urdu with Hindi as official language in UP

Sir Syed Ahmad Khan's Response (1867): Said if a community's language is not safe among others, it cannot live with them. He shifted from promoting Hindu-Muslim unity to focusing on Muslim interests.

Nawab Mohsin-ul-Mulk founded the Urdu Defence Association, which restored Urdu alongside Hindi. He later established Anjuman-e-Tarraqi-e-Urdu.

Formation of Indian National Congress — 28 December 1885

- Founded by Allan Octavian Hume with support of Lord Dufferin

- Sir Syed Ahmad Khan strongly opposed Congress and advised Muslims not to join

Partition of Bengal — 16 October 1905

- Bengal divided into East Bengal & Assam (Muslim majority) and West Bengal
 - Hindus opposed it — started Swadeshi Movement (boycott of British goods)
 - Muslims supported it — improved their political position
 - Reversed in 1911 due to Hindu pressure — disappointed Muslims greatly

LECTURE 4 — Simla Deputation (1906) and Muslim League (1906)

Simla Deputation — 1 October 1906

- Members divided into: official, non-official, nominated, elected
- Separate electorate for Muslims officially introduced ✓

Hindu Reaction: Opposed separate electorate — said it divided the nation.

Muslim Reaction: Supported it — gave them political protection.

Lucknow Pact — 1916

An agreement between Indian National Congress and All India Muslim League — the only major example of Hindu-Muslim cooperation.

Background:

- Partition of Bengal annulled in 1911 angered Muslims

- Muslims given 1/3 representation in central legislature
- Weightage system: more seats where Muslims were minority, less where majority
- No law hurting a community could pass without 75% approval of that community
- Both parties jointly demanded self-government

Significance: Muslims recognized as a separate political entity. Influenced later Montagu-Chelmsford Reforms (1919).

Cost: Muslims gave up majority status in Punjab and Bengal.

Khilafat Movement (mentioned briefly in Lecture 5)

LECTURE 8 — Key Events 1940–1947

Cripps Mission — March 1942

Why It Came: Japan attacked Pearl Harbour on 7 December 1941, reached borders of Assam. Britain needed India's cooperation.

 2. Representation (East vs West Pakistan)
 3. Separate or Joint Electorate
